

Statement by His Lordship The Honourable Chief Justice Komba Kamanda

Distinguished members of the legal profession, the renewal of our legal profession is not merely desirable; it is essential to the strength of our justice system and the confidence of the people we serve.

This National Consultative Conference provides a timely opportunity for us to look honestly at the challenges confronting the profession, listen to diverse perspectives, and forge a common vision for a more united, independent, ethical and trusted legal profession. Our task is not only to identify what is wrong, but to agree on what must change, and to translate that agreement into practical reform.

I urge all participants to approach the dialogue with candour, respect and a shared commitment to the rule of law.

The future of our legal profession depends on the choices we make today. Let us choose renewal, unity, independence and public trust.
